

The University of Sydney

School of Public Health

International Symposium 15th August 4:30pm

“Housing, Urban regeneration, Inequalities and Public Health”

Dr Mark Petticrew

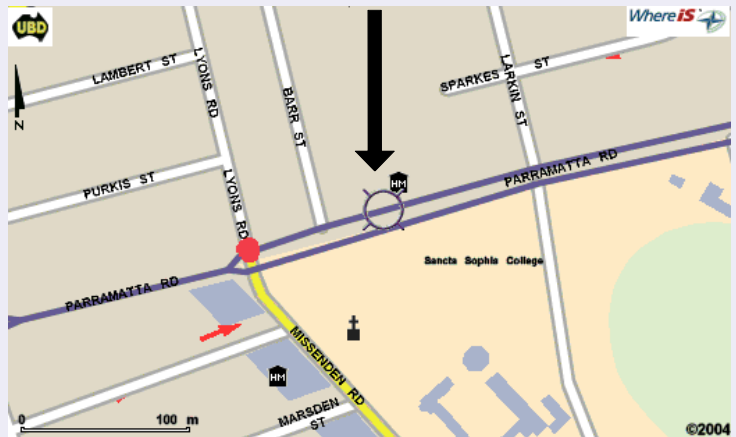

MRC Social and Public Health Science Unit
University of Glasgow

This symposium will cover areas of interest to public health researchers and practitioners interested in health inequalities and urban form, and the health impacts of housing and development. It will be of interest to professionals in urban planning, local government, housing and policy.

Time: 4.30pm – 6.00pm

Address:

Medical Foundation Building, K25
Auditorium, Ground Level
92 Parramatta Road, Camperdown

Directions:

Walk through the main gates on 92 Parramatta Road and the Auditorium is located on your right of the main lobby. Please try to use public transport as visitors parking are limited.

There is no charge to this event.

Please register your interest to:
Adeline Yaw, tel: 02 9036 3193
adeliney@health.usyd.edu.au